Connexions module: m14979

IMAGES OF MEMORABLE CASES: CASE 6^*

Herbert L. Fred, MD Hendrik A. van Dijk

This work is produced by The Connexions Project and licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution License †

External Image

Please see:

http://rup.rice.edu/memcases-button.jpg

Exercise 1 (Solution on p. 2.)

Stool specimen from a patient with epigastric pain, jaundice, and anemia.

^{*}Version 1.3: Dec 3, 2008 10:24 pm -0600

 $^{^\}dagger {\rm http://creative commons.org/licenses/by/2.0/}$

Connexions module: m14979 2

Solutions to Exercises in this Module

Solution to Exercise (p. 1): 6. Silver stool

A tarnished-silver or aluminum paint-like stool color characteristically results when biliary obstruction of any type (white stool) combines with gastrointestinal bleeding from any source (black stool). This patient had carcinoma of the ampulla of Vater, the most frequently cited cause of silver stools.